H1 DESIGN FEATURES

'H' IS FOR HAUT! : The home's floor plan and form is made up of two volumes connected by a glass entry vestibule, resulting in an 'H' shaped floor plan. The upper volume, nestled into the hills side supports the private function of the house, while the lower volume houses the public spaces that spill out into the aspen grove below.

PERFECT PITCH : Along the volume-connecting axis the roof pitches upward and outward in both directions from the vestibule. This creates a strong visual connection between the private and public wings. More importantly, it spatially accentuates the views out to the aspen trees from the living and office spaces.

GLAZED OVER : The entry vestibule is a jewel box of glass. From the moment you walk through the door you are greeted by the site's omnipresent aspen grove. The vestibule is also a conduit from which every space is showered by light: living room, bedrooms, office, and baths alike.

GREAT OUTDOORS : Bring the outdoors in and indoors out with an 18 foot wide by 11 foot tall pocketing lift-and-slide door. Living here will practically be glamping.

OUTDOOR LIVING : Step outside and choose between three different out door living experiences. The main living deck off of the main living room is perfect for entertaining a large group of family, friends, and... lets say architects. Looking for something a bit more secluded? The summer deck is cradled snugly between the two legs of the 'H'. Need quiet privacy away from the rest of the house? Relax at the master bedroom patio.

CAMOUFLAGE : So subtle in the landscape you'll 'happen upon' your Camp Aspen dwelling every time you come home. Weather-resistant cedar shakes treated with a bleaching oil closely resembles the milky white bark of the aspens while dark-stained wood window trim hearkens to their dark knotted eyes.

CENTRAL HEARTH : In the center of the main living volume stands a megalith of stone where the fireplace resides. It creates a spatial distinction between kitchen and living while maintaining a strong cohesive connection to both. A pass through fireplace is visible from both spaces to enhance the sense of connection while simultaneously hiding the dirty dishes.

CONVERTIBLE OFFICE : Be it for that extra guest or for resale value, the office can double as a bedroom to suit your needs.
